Change in Personnel

- Same conversation we always have around the holidays.
- Make sure that you are identifying the people on your crews and in your management teams that are not on site, and make sure that they:
 - Have a replacement
 - And that their replacement understands the role that they are assigned
 - People know who the replacement is.
- Incidents can occur when people do not have the correct information, don't know the plan, or are put in a situation without the correct training.
- Do not invite these potentials into your operations this holiday season.
